

Kendi Karimi, a journalist turned author, graduated top of her class with first-class honors in Mass Communication. Author of "Murdering Romance and 3 other books.

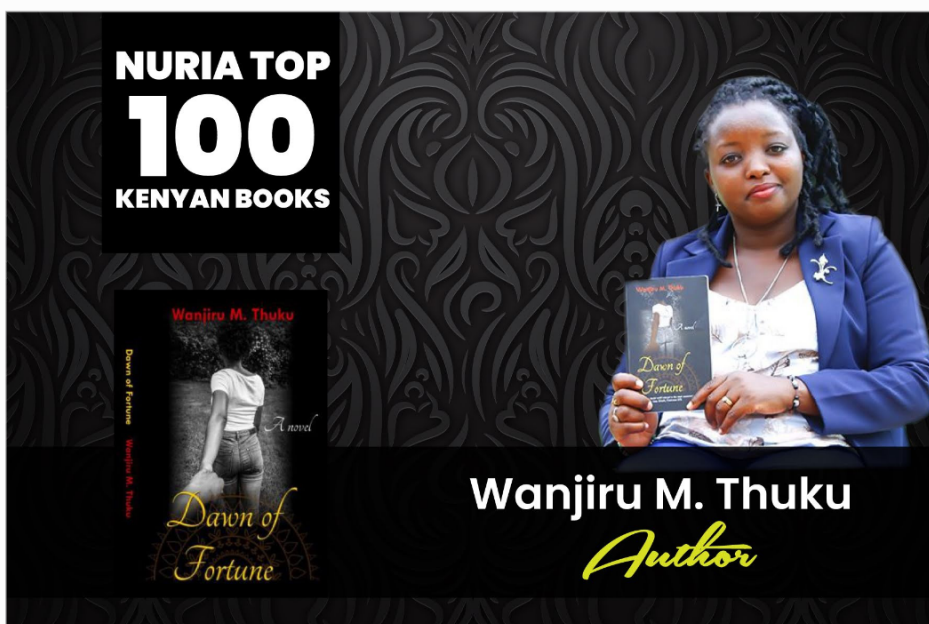

The Big Conservation Lie is written by people who are actually from one of big conservation's key target country— Kenya. Mordecai Ogada and John Mbaria

Brenda S. Wanjira, author of the book "Heart Whispers" An explosion of inner thoughts, intimate feelings, and raging desires. Whispers of the heart.

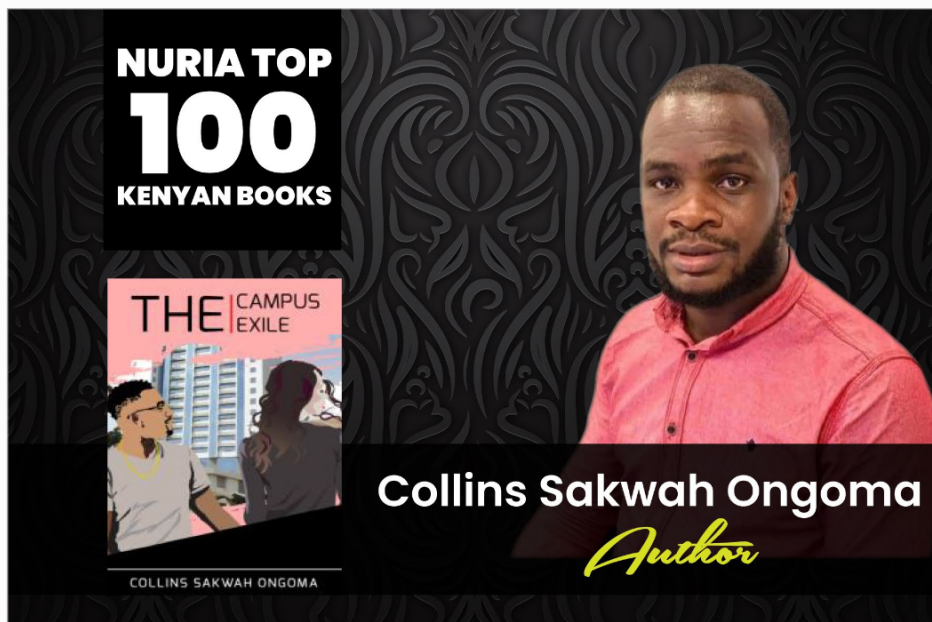

Wanjiru M. Thuku is a poet, content creator, blogger and journalist holding a Bachelor's Degree in Mass Communication, Author of the book "Dawn of Fortune"

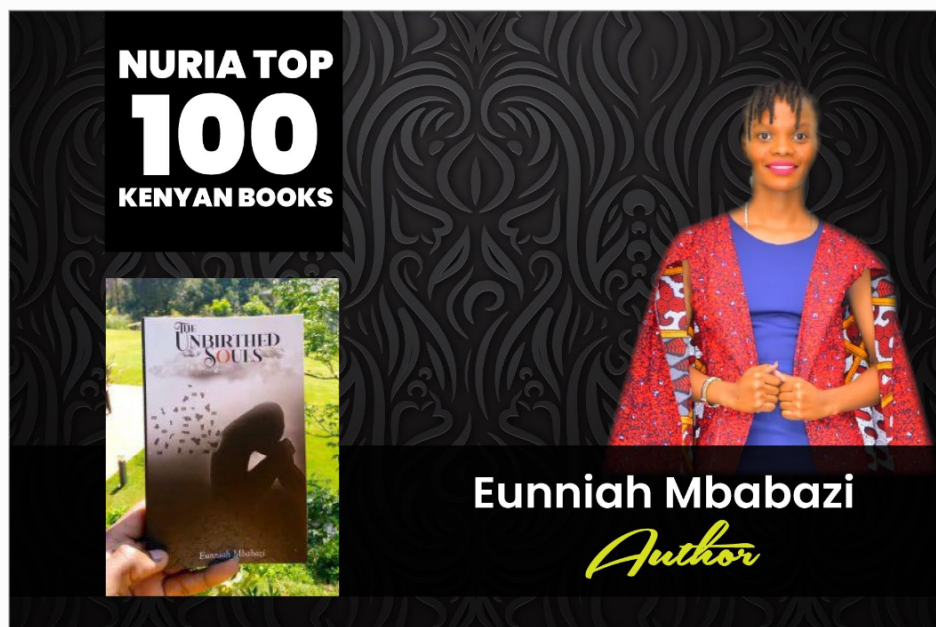

Khadija Abdalla Bajaber is a writer and poet from Mombasa, Kenya and The House of Rust is her debut novel.

Rasna Warah is a Kenyan writer and journalist. In a previous incarnation, she was an editor at the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat). Author of "Lords Of Impunity" and other books

Sakwah is what we'd accurately call a new-age storyteller. He tells his stories not only on his published works but primarily to his tens of thousands of followers on social media.

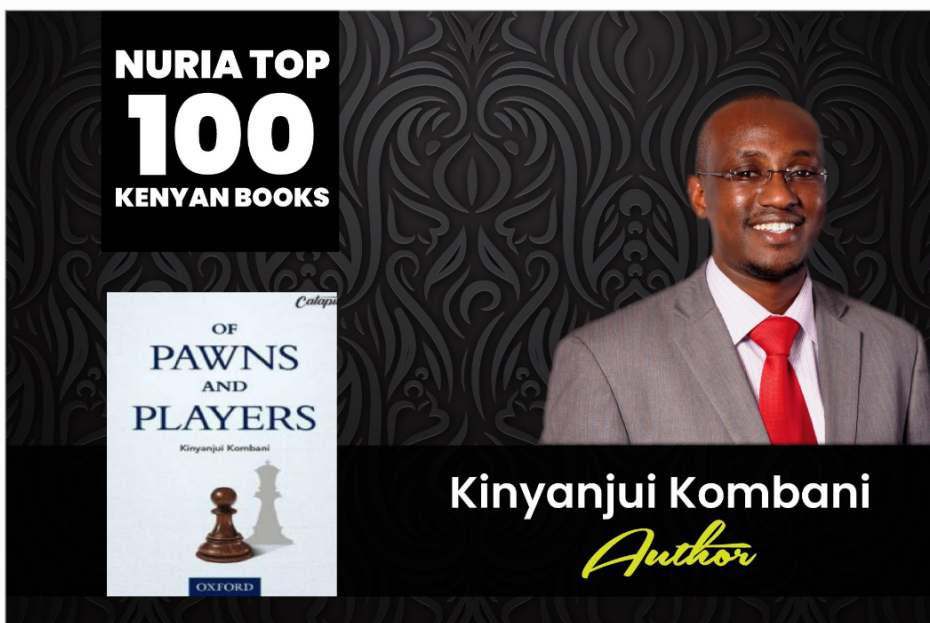

Eunniah Mbabazi is an Electrical and Electronic Engineer with a deep passion for books and literature. She has authored Breaking Down and 3 other books

Joyce Gikunju, Author of Bouncing back and Thriving.

A book that provides guide to thrive following business setbacks, insurmountable odds and imminent failure.

Kinyanjui Kombani, popularly known as “The Banker who Writes, ” is a Kenyan novelist, playwright, script writer, and literature critic/activist, his latest book "Hawkers–Pokers.